

SUBSCRIBE FOR YOUR CHANCE TO WIN! A QUAD-CORE GAMING PC WORTH $2200!

When we decided to give away a complete custom-built PC as this month's subscription prize, debate raged over what to call the thing. From the Spanish-flavoured "El Beasto" to the what-the-hell-were-you-thinking-Timothy "Diabeastical", we couldn't pin down any one name that would fully convey the awesomeness within. So instead, we've decided to let it speak for itself. As you'll see from checking out each component, this is one powerful machine — a machine built by Lindsay right here at PCPP HQ — which has Intel's seriously mighty quad core as its beating heart. Being the hot component of the moment this little CPU is also our pick for the Beastie, and in that way you could almost consider this PC its older, slightly meaner, and more Spanish, brother (or perhaps its distant cousin). Whatever. Point is, it's built specifically for gaming — with its four CPU cores, high-end motherboard and DX10 videocard — which means it's built specifically for you. You want to win it? Easy. Subscribe to PC PowerPlay!

INTEL Q6600 QUAD CORE CPU + D975XBX2 BAD AXE MOBO!

Intel comes to the party with two vital pieces of hardware. The Q6600 CPU packs four powerful cores, each running at 2.4GHz — more than enough to prepare you for next-gen games like Crysis — while the D975XBX2 motherboard is both "extreme" and "bad axe". Sounds pretty hardcore to us, and with Intel's name behind the bits, you know it's Grade-A gear.

APLUS EL-DIABLO PC CASE

Now THIS is a case. Check out that smooth black exterior, the sleek angular lines, the blue LED lighting ... not to mention a pair of fans that could shred any passing sparrows in an instant. This is truly a gamer's case.

GIGABYTE GEFORCE 8600 GTS

Behind every great game lies an even greater videocard. This 8600 GTS is that card. It's powerful and practical without being extravagant, and it's got plenty of grunt to push those polygons without breaking a sweat. As an added bonus it comes with Supreme Commander ... that should give those multiple cores a nice work out.

GIGABYTE™

WESTERN DIGITAL 750GB SATA DRIVE RAID EDITION

A chunky HDD is a vital part of any gamer's diet. Western Digital is throwing in a whopping 750 gigabytes worth of space, more than enough to deliver up your games, movies and music with blistering speed.

TAGAN 900W PSU

The more juice, the better, and this 900W PSU is packed with all the watts this machine requires, with enough headroom for any insane upgrades in the future.

APACER PC2-6400 2GB DDR2 800MHZ RAM

The days of 1GB of RAM being sufficient for gaming are over. If you're serious about your games looking and running the best, 2GB is where it's at, and with our DDR2 offerings clocking in at 800MHz, they're certainly up to the task.
