

Good Gear Guide – 17 March 2008

Product : DDR3

The screenshot shows the Good Gear Guide website interface. At the top left is the logo "GOOD GEAR GUIDE" with the URL "www.goodgearguide.com.au" and a search bar. Navigation tabs include "Reviews", "Home Entertainment", "Mobile Phones", "Digital Cameras", "Advisors", "The Business Centre", "GPS", "Broadband", and "Digital Home". A sidebar on the left lists categories like "Advisors" (Broadband, Digital Home, Digital Photo, GPS, The Business Centre) and "Reviews" (Hardware, Cool Gear (52), Digital Cameras (274), Digital Video (161), Game Hardware (34), GPS (68), Handheld Devices (21), Headphones (96), Home Entertainment (272), In-Car Entertainment (4), Mobile Phones (339), Monitors (112), MP3 Players, iPod & Portable Multimedia (223), Networking (41), Notebooks (281)). The main content area features an article titled "Apacer officially introduces DDR3 desktop range memory modules in Australia" by "External Press Release Author (ITMarketer)" dated 17/03/2008 14:50:41. The article text begins: "The world's fifth largest memory module maker Apacer Technology has launched the DDR3 for desktop range for Australia market. This high-level DDR3 range offering fully supports the Bearlake desktop chipset from Intel, marking the official entry into the new era of DDR3 with higher performance, lower energy consumption and greater capacity. The Apacer DDR3 desktop range memory modules have been adopted by Taiwanese and European users and have gained wonderful performance feedback. The compatibility of the DDR3 range from Apacer Technology is certified by leading motherboard manufacturers. Apacer Technology maintains long-term cooperation with motherboard manufacturers and has conducted a series of product functionality and compatibility tests during the development of the DDR3 range. Therefore". To the right of the article are buttons for "Print this story" and "Digg this story", a "More by External Press Release Author" link, and a "Top Reviews" section listing products like "Panasonic PT-AE1000", "BlueAnt Supertooth Light", "Sony Ericsson W890i", "Motorola MOTOKRZR K3", "BlueAnt Z9", and "InFocus ScreenPlay 7210". Below that is a "Newsletter Subscription" section with the text "Sign up for our Good Gear Guide newsletters!".

GOOD GEAR GUIDE
www.goodgearguide.com.au

Search Product

Reviews Home Entertainment Mobile Phones Digital Cameras
Advisors The Business Centre GPS Broadband Digital Home

EMAIL

Apacer officially introduces DDR3 desktop range memory modules in Australia

External Press Release Author \(ITMarketer\) 17/03/2008 14:50:41

The world's fifth largest memory module maker Apacer Technology has launched the DDR3 for desktop range for Australia market. This high-level DDR3 range offering fully supports the Bearlake desktop chipset from Intel, marking the official entry into the new era of DDR3 with higher performance, lower energy consumption and greater capacity. The Apacer DDR3 desktop range memory modules have been adopted by Taiwanese and European users and have gained wonderful performance feedback. The compatibility of the DDR3 range from Apacer Technology is certified by leading motherboard manufacturers. Apacer Technology maintains long-term cooperation with motherboard manufacturers and has conducted a series of product functionality and compatibility tests during the development of the DDR3 range. Therefore

Print this story
Digg this story

More by External Press Release Author

Top Reviews Most Popular

- Panasonic PT-AE1000
- BlueAnt Supertooth Light
- Sony Ericsson W890i
- Motorola MOTOKRZR K3
- BlueAnt Z9
- InFocus ScreenPlay 7210

Additional Resources

Newsletter Subscription

Sign up for our Good Gear Guide newsletters!