Product : Apacer 4-Port PH151 USB2.0 Hub

DELL
Your family can do it all.

Home | Management | Enterprise | KM/Storage | Security | Staffing | Sourcing | Technology | Opinions | Revie

Media Release from Apacer

Media releases are provided as is by companies and have not been edited or checked for accuracy. Any queries should be directed to the company itself.

Apacer 4-Port PH151 USB 2.0 Hub makes the clever connection

16 April, 2008 16:00:00

Sydney Australia - April 16 2008 - Far from bleak USB accessory products, Apacer Technology has released the Apacer PH151, a simple design yet revolutionary fun "Y"-shaped USB 2.0 hub. It comes in two funky colours - Brilliant Orange or Designer Black. The Apacer PH151 has four USB ports from side and top connections packed in a compact frame making USB connections effortless. Gone are the days of one USB device blocking two side-by-side USB ports because of the device's different, angles, thickness and direction. PH151 also organises your myriad of USB devices through its outstanding Y-shape design. The PH151 is both useful, excellent value, convenient, and portable weighing only 41 grams.

🖨 Print this story

📇 Digg this story

Related Topics

Additional Resources

Executive Guides

Understanding CRM in

uides

http://www.cio.com.au/index.php/id;492481618